POLICY GUIDELINES ON REGULATING THE ISSUANCE OF DEPED ADVISORIES

Introduction

The Department of Education (DepEd) adopts a strategy of partnership with local, national, international public and private stakeholders through various programs, projects or activities.

Rationale

This Department has been receiving numerous requests from various organizations for the issuance of DepEd Advisories (DAs) to announce the conduct of their programs, projects or activities. In recognition of the contribution of these entities in the professional development of field personnel and in enriching teaching and learning through alternative learning experiences, the Department, in most instances, favorably responds to the requests, by issuing a DepEd Advisory.

However, complaints against some of these entities have reached this Department. Some participants, teachers and students and co-partners have filed their complaints against the sponsoring organizations due to unsatisfactory conduct of their activities, advance collection of registration fees from the prospective participants, but there was no actual conduct of the announced activity/event. Moreover, some companies, associations, organizations, institutions or agencies have used the DepEd's official name, seal and logo in their programs, projects, or activities (PPAs) without officially securing approval from the Secretary or his authorized executive official.

Objectives

The formulation and issuance of these policy guidelines will regulate the issuance of DepEd Advisories requested by local, national and international partner companies, associations, organizations, institutions or agencies. These regulations will set/define clearly the requirements in the issuance of DepEd Advisories. Adherence to these guidelines will promote a healthy partnership and protect the best interests of DepEd's constituents and the general public.
